Hojaji is outgrowth of revolution

Maryam Qarehgozlou

Most don’t understand the relationship between Judaism, Christianity and Islam: anthropologist Gholamreza Hojaji is outgrowth of revolution

Iran holds first Women in Science Award

Ex-Iran table tennis player Vahabzadeh dies

Belgium new European buyer of Iran’s petchem products

It’sIran turn to take steps, Iran says

Abdolrahim Moussavi appointed Army chief

Over 200 terrorists killed in airstrike in Dayr al-Zawr: Russia

Qatar crisis: Are the Saudis the real puppet-master?

Environment matters: Couple tie the knot, pledge to plant thousand-plus trees

Harvesting paddy fields in Gilan

Qatar crisis: Are the Saudis the real puppet-master?

Most don’t understand the relationship between Judaism, Christianity and Islam: anthropologist

Gholamreza Hojaji

Most don’t understand the relationship between Judaism, Christianity and Islam: anthropologist

Gholamreza Hojaji

Most don’t understand the relationship between Judaism, Christianity and Islam: anthropologist

Gholamreza Hojaji
Protection of nuclear deal will be a priority, Zarif says

Leader calls martyr Hojaji example of revolution's outgrowth

Soleimani says Iran highly influential in regional stability

Army's defense industry symbol of self-sufficiency

Navy commander leaves for Malaysia

Velayati commends strong relations with Iraq

IRGC: Hatami's leadership promises increasing deterrence power

It's Saudi turn to take steps, Iran says

Iran, Lebanon reaffirm support for Syria talks

Iraqi Islamic Virtue Party chief meets Velayati

Tensions between the United States and Iran have been raging on for more than six years.

"We should provide the international community with assurance that we are trustworthy by abiding by its commitments and it is the U.S. which violates its commitments," the foreign minister remarked.

"The new U.S. administration should be clear about the fact that wrong policies will not lead to 'right results.'" Zarif added, the JCPOA is an international agreement and the U.S. cannot pull out of the deal.

"Increasing ties with neighbors is another priority." Elsewhere in his televised interview, Zarif said strengthening ties with neighbors is another foreign policy priority.

He also said Iran is located in a volatile region which has made it a target of the US and other powers. "Foreign interferences" have led to the strengthening of the Iranian military, he added.

Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif on Sunday met with Lebanon's Parliament Speaker Nabih Berri to discuss bilateral ties and regional issues.

"As we have said before, we should not let the U.S. violate the JCPOA at any expense," Zarif said in an interview.

In approving the proposed ministers on Sunday, Zarif succeeded in vetoing votes of 288 ballots for the post of foreign minister after the debate on his candidate.

The appointment of the new foreign minister, Deputy Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif, has been made clear because of its importance in the formation of the government's foreign policy.

President Rouhani has also approved the new foreign minister's credentials.

He added the U.S. can be successful in its attempts to "isolate Iran," but "if it portrays Iran as a side which breaches its commitments, it cannot be successful in its wrong policies toward the JCPOA if it portrays Iran as a side which breaches its commitments.

Iran can be successful by remaining committed to its obligations under the international nuclear deal.

"The JCPOA is a clear example of the Islamic and revolutionary outgrowth negotiated in Tehran, a symbol of the Islamic revolution's support to the Syrian people and other martyrs," the foreign minister said.

With the Iranian leader's approval, Iran is now ready to promote closer relations with neighboring countries and the regional community.

Zarif also thanked the Lebanese parliament for its support, stressing that Lebanon is a true partner in the region.

With the JCPOA, Iran has been able to protect its national interest in the region and the world.

"Iran is the only country in the region whose policies are focused on preserving its national interest and protecting its national security and made progress, the foreign minister remarked.

Elsewhere, he also expressed appreciation for the European Union, the U.S. and the British cooperation to help Iran, especially in views of the nuclear deal.

Leader calls martyr Hojaji example of revolution's outgrowth

"Iranian people have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran is a clear example of the Islamic and revolutionary outgrowth negotiated in Tehran, the Islamic revolution's symbol of self-sufficiency and self-reliance." The top Iranian diplomat further noted that Iran is now ready to promote its achievements in regional and international affairs.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

Eighty years have passed since the Zionists occupied the region and set up a puppet government in Iran.

"We have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"If we let the U.S. violate the JCPOA at any expense, we cannot achieve our goals," he added.

The JCPOA, which was approved by the UN Security Council, has been considered one of the most important priorities of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

IRGC: Hatami's leadership promises increasing deterrence power

President Rouhani congratulated the new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense capabilities, especially its missile defense.

"We are going to promote the Islamic Republic's defense industries and the country's defense industry," President Rouhani said.

The new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense industry.

Zarif also thanked the Lebanese parliament for its support, stressing that Lebanon is a true partner in the region.

He added the U.S. can be successful in its attempts to "isolate Iran," but "if it portrays Iran as a side which breaches its commitments, it cannot be successful in its wrong policies toward the JCPOA if it portrays Iran as a side which breaches its commitments.

Iran can be successful by remaining committed to its obligations under the international nuclear deal.

"The JCPOA is a clear example of the Islamic and revolutionary outgrowth negotiated in Tehran, a symbol of the Islamic revolution's support to the Syrian people and other martyrs," the foreign minister said.

With the Iranian leader's approval, Iran is now ready to promote closer relations with neighboring countries and the regional community.

Zarif also thanked the Lebanese parliament for its support, stressing that Lebanon is a true partner in the region.

With the JCPOA, Iran has been able to protect its national interest in the region and the world.

"Iran is the only country in the region whose policies are focused on preserving its national interest and protecting its national security and made progress, the foreign minister remarked.

Elsewhere, he also expressed appreciation for the European Union, the U.S. and the British cooperation to help Iran, especially in views of the nuclear deal.

Leader calls martyr Hojaji example of revolution's outgrowth

"Iranian people have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran is a clear example of the Islamic and revolutionary outgrowth negotiated in Tehran, the Islamic revolution's symbol of self-sufficiency and self-reliance." The top Iranian diplomat further noted that Iran is now ready to promote its achievements in regional and international affairs.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

Eighty years have passed since the Zionists occupied the region and set up a puppet government in Iran.

"We have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"If we let the U.S. violate the JCPOA at any expense, we cannot achieve our goals," he added.

The JCPOA, which was approved by the UN Security Council, has been considered one of the most important priorities of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

IRGC: Hatami's leadership promises increasing deterrence power

President Rouhani congratulated the new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense capabilities, especially its missile defense.

"We are going to promote the Islamic Republic's defense industries and the country's defense industry," President Rouhani said.

The new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense industry.

Zarif also thanked the Lebanese parliament for its support, stressing that Lebanon is a true partner in the region.

With the JCPOA, Iran has been able to protect its national interest in the region and the world.

"Iran is the only country in the region whose policies are focused on preserving its national interest and protecting its national security and made progress, the foreign minister remarked.

Elsewhere, he also expressed appreciation for the European Union, the U.S. and the British cooperation to help Iran, especially in views of the nuclear deal.

Leader calls martyr Hojaji example of revolution's outgrowth

"Iranian people have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran is a clear example of the Islamic and revolutionary outgrowth negotiated in Tehran, the Islamic revolution's symbol of self-sufficiency and self-reliance." The top Iranian diplomat further noted that Iran is now ready to promote its achievements in regional and international affairs.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

Eighty years have passed since the Zionists occupied the region and set up a puppet government in Iran.

"We have never seen such a level of power," the Quds Force chief said.

"If we let the U.S. violate the JCPOA at any expense, we cannot achieve our goals," he added.

The JCPOA, which was approved by the UN Security Council, has been considered one of the most important priorities of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

President Rouhani and the Islamic revolutionary forces have been able to overthrow the "Zionist regime" in the region.

IRGC: Hatami's leadership promises increasing deterrence power

President Rouhani congratulated the new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense capabilities, especially its missile defense.

"We are going to promote the Islamic Republic's defense industries and the country's defense industry," President Rouhani said.

The new defense chief in strengthening the country's defense industry.

Zarif also thanked the Lebanese parliament for its support, stressing that Lebanon is a true partner in the region.

With the JCPOA, Iran has been able to protect its national interest in the region and the world.

"Iran is the only country in the region whose policies are focused on preserving its national interest and protecting its national security and made progress, the foreign minister remarked.

Elsewhere, he also expressed appreciation for the European Union, the U.S. and the British cooperation to help Iran, especially in views of the nuclear deal.
Iraq rejects concessions to Kurds over referendum

Iraq has roundly rejected a senior Kurdish official's plan to hold a second planned Sept. 25 referendum on independency in return for financial and political concessions from Baghdad. A London-based paper says.

The report, written by Sunday on behalf of the Kurdistan Islamic Group (KRG), was released last month and reportedly raised in negotiations between the two sides, the pan-Arab Al Quds Al Arabi agency reported.

“what thing would Baghdad be prepared to do,” said one of the KRG’s officials.

Abadi, President Fuad Masum, and other Iraqi leaders as well as ambassadors of the United States, Iran and Turkey in Baghdad.

The visit came after U.S. Secretary of State Rex Tillerson formally asked Masum, calling for the independence of the Kurdistan region. He also said that the U.S. is considering a plan to bring the KRG back into the United Nations Security Council.

But Tillerson said the U.S. government had not yet made a decision on the matter.

He said the exercises are held regularly and are part of the annual military drills amid heated warnings against the Ulchi Freedom Guardian drills, which together with Iraq have sizable untapped wealth of gold, copper, uranium and other precious minerals worth around $1 trillion, Afghan officials’ latest geological surveys revealed. The number of U.S. soldiers in this region has fallen from 160,000 in 2010 to 10,000 now.

North Korea, for its part, threatened with a nuclear war. "We will be forced to launch a preemptive nuclear strike on Guam - a plan that Kim Jong-un has long considered," said the country’s foreign minister. The statement by the Iraqi prime minister Abadi, President Abd Rabbuh Mansur Hadi, Libya, the Maldives, Djibouti, Senegal and the Gambia has all been accused of diplomatic ties. Jordan dragooned its diplomatic ties as well.

Saudi Arabia is an ally of the UK and USA. American and British companies have continued to sell weapons to Saudi Arabia despite growing concern about civilian casualties.

They added, "Kuwaiti airlines have destroyed vital infrastructure, including hospitals and public water systems, hit civilian areas, and conducted hundreds of air and ground civilian casualties. A Saudi-backed blockade of imports has caused shortages of, among other things, food, medical supplies, fuel and chemicals."

Researchers, in a joint statement, said, "Saudi-led airstrikes have targeted civilian areas, resulting in massive civilian casualties in Yemen. In addition, the Saudi-led war has led to a humanitarian crisis in Yemen, with more than 20 million people in need of acute food and health aid."

The Houthis are the target on a two-year military campaign that began in March 2015. The campaign has cost the US economy more than $714 billion dollars, according to estimates that conservative figures put the number at $3tn natural resources. "The Houthis are the target on a two-year military campaign that began in March 2015. The campaign has cost the US economy more than $714 billion dollars, according to estimates that conservative figures put the number at $3tn natural resources."

"Saudi Arabia is an ally of the UK and USA. American and British companies have continued to sell weapons to Saudi Arabia despite growing concern about civilian casualties."

They added, "Kuwaiti airlines have destroyed vital infrastructure, including hospitals and public water systems, hit civilian areas, and conducted hundreds of air and ground civilian casualties. A Saudi-backed blockade of imports has caused shortages of, among other things, food, medical supplies, fuel and chemicals."

Researchers, in a joint statement, said, "Saudi-led airstrikes have targeted civilian areas, resulting in massive civilian casualties in Yemen. In addition, the Saudi-led war has led to a humanitarian crisis in Yemen, with more than 20 million people in need of acute food and health aid."

"I am very pleased that Russia and the UK have joined forces to help the residents of the region in a way that does not clash with public aspirations, they heap the blame on Qatar," the Saudi ambassador commented.

Shafi said that Qatar is “doing all it can to prevent bloodshed and instability in the region in a way that does not clash with aspirations of the people.”

The two states are “by design to achieve the goals of a nuclear war.”

The number of U.S. soldiers in this year’s drill was reduced by a third, while South Korea media reported that the U.S. was considering swapping a plan to bring two aircraft carriers to the peninsula. But U.S. Defense Secretary Jim Mattis said Sunday that the smaller troop numbers were “by design to achieve the objectives of our alliance,” referring to Washington had cut them back to try to see tensions with Pyongyang.

At Jalalabad, Stop Vaessen, reporting from Seoul, said: “The crucial aspect will be how North Korea responds. In 2016, Pyongyang retaliated by firing submarine launch missile, which ended disputed area of sea."

But this time around, given the recent tensions, many are saying the North will carefully calculate to these drills if the country is really serious about some room for negotiation,” our correspondent said.

On the eve of the U.S. drills, North Korea said the U.S. was “putting grounds on fire.” In commentary called by the official Rodong Sinmun newspaper, the newspaper said that a nuclear war would take place on “somebody else’s doorstep far away from them across the Pacific.”

relations with Moscow and Washington have fallen to a post-Cold War low, driven by accusations of Russian interference in the 2016 U.S. presidential elections. Kim Jong-un has been at the eye of the storm over his meetings with senior campaign aides to Donald Trump during the presidential race.

Tillerson was said to have served as a deputy foreign minister since December, previously he served as a deputy prime minister. He has been seen as a hardliner and known as a tough negotiator, including over weapons control issues with the U.S. (Source: AP)

New bill calls on Mike Pence to ask for Trump's resignation

Talk of uniting Donald Trump from the presidency erupted shortly after his shocking electoral victory: Democratic representatives called for his impeachment. But the 25th Amendment provides another pathway by which the vice president—mandated by the 25th Amendment—must sign a declaration of inability. The motion brought to the fore the Turley's article that suggested the potential for impeachment.

In 2016, Pyongyang retaliated by firing submarine launch missile, which ended disputed area of sea."

But this time around, given the recent tensions, many are saying the North will carefully calculate to these drills if the country is really serious about some room for negotiation,” our correspondent said.

On the eve of the U.S. drills, North Korea said the U.S. was “putting grounds on fire.” In commentary called by the official Rodong Sinmun newspaper, the newspaper said that a nuclear war would take place on “somebody else’s doorstep far away from them across the Pacific.”

relations with Moscow and Washington have fallen to a post-Cold War low, driven by accusations of Russian interference in the 2016 U.S. presidential elections. Kim Jong-un has been at the eye of the storm over his meetings with senior campaign aides to Donald Trump during the presidential race.

Tillerson was said to have served as a deputy foreign minister since December, previously he served as a deputy prime minister. He has been seen as a hardliner and known as a tough negotiator, including over weapons control issues with the U.S. (Source: AP)
Ministers outline top economic, energy policies

Singapore has unveiled a new energy strategy focused on reducing greenhouse gas emissions and promoting renewable energy. The minister outlined the following key points:

1. Energy Efficiency: The government will promote energy efficiency across all sectors to reduce overall energy consumption.
2. Renewable Energy: A significant increase in renewable energy targets will be announced, with a focus on solar and wind power.
3. Green Buildings: New policies will be implemented to encourage the construction of green buildings.
4. Electric Vehicles: A roadmap for the widespread adoption of electric vehicles will be developed.
5. Energy Security: Enhanced efforts will be made to ensure energy security, including diversifying energy sources.
6. Public Awareness: A public awareness campaign will be launched to educate citizens about the importance of energy conservation.

The minister also announced that a new National Energy Strategy will be developed, incorporating these and other initiatives. The strategy will be updated annually to reflect changes in the energy landscape and technological advancements.

---

Japan manufacturers most optimistic in decade as economy grows

Japan’s business sentiment index rose to a record high, signaling that companies are more optimistic about the future economic outlook.

The sentiment index for manufacturers rose one point to 27 in August in the poll of 548 large- and medium-sized companies conducted Aug. 2-14, in a report by the Bank of Japan.

Confidence at Japanese manufacturers rose to its highest level in more than a decade on optimism about the global economy, the BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

The Reuters’ monthly poll — which tracks the Bank of Japan’s closely watched quarterly tankan, a survey of large and mid-sized companies conducted at the end of each quarter — was upbeat for the fourth straight month.

The overall business sentiment index for manufacturers rose one point to 27 in August from the previous month’s two-year high of 26.

The sentiment index is seen as a guide for future economic activities including implementation of business plans.

The Bank of Japan’s closely watched quarterly tankan — the BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

The BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

The Bank of Japan’s closely watched quarterly tankan — the BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

The BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

The Bank of Japan’s closely watched quarterly tankan — the BOJ’s last tankan out July 3 showed big manufacturing exporters, a Reuters poll showed, a further broadening recovery.

---

Economic growth in Singapore

Singapore’s economy is expected to grow at a solid pace in the second quarter, supported by robust exports and domestic demand.

The government has raised its growth forecast for the year to 6.5% from 6.0% previously.

---

Economic growth in China

China’s economy is expected to grow at a solid pace in the second quarter, supported by robust exports and domestic demand.

The government has raised its growth forecast for the year to 6.5% from 6.0% previously.

---

Economic growth in India

India’s economy is expected to grow at a solid pace in the second quarter, supported by robust exports and domestic demand.

The government has raised its growth forecast for the year to 6.5% from 6.0% previously.
Oil prices fall after rally encourages profit-taking

Oil prices fell Monday as a rally at the end of last week prompted investors to close positions at higher prices, only to find that prices would not hold at these levels, and that the rally had started to fade. Brent crude rose $4.43 a barrel to $63.19 on Friday. But oil prices were up just 0.2 per cent on Monday. Brent hit $63.40, but fell back below $63 a barrel. The US West Texas Intermediate crude traded at $54.89 a barrel, down 1.2 per cent. The contract had also risen 1.1 per cent in the previous session.

"We are currently seeing some profit-taking after Friday’s strong rally ahead of this week’s inventory data," said Hans van Cleef, senior energy economist at ABN Amro.

"Fresh uncertainty about inventories and OPEC compliance with agreed production cuts could be enough reason to sell oil at the moment," van Cleef said.

The world remains awash with oil despite a deal struck by some of the world’s biggest producers to restrict production in an effort to shore up prices. Brent and US oil futures have been far too high to keep supply and demand from balancing. However, there are indications that US output may soon slow, as energy firms cut drilling for new oil for a second week in three, energy services company Baker Hughes reported on Friday. Drillers slashed five rigs in the week to Aug. 18, decreasing the count to 762.

"The rig count suffered its biggest fall since January, adding to signs that the market is tightening," ANZ bank said.

Also, US commercial crude inventories have fallen almost 13 per cent from their March peaks, to 466.5 million barrels, according to the Energy Information Administration.

Analysts said falling crude inventories, despite rising output, suggest that what was left is the last of the US shale oil.

"The trajectory of crude inventories is clearly down and it will be surprising if the market will be able to sign off on the US shale oil story," O’Neill of RBC Capital Markets said.

"We are already starting to see a decline in domestic oil production," he said. "This suggests that the US shale oil story is starting to fade."

The deal also reduces some of the uncertainty that is controlling the billion-dollar Russian shale industry. The group, which has struggled with oil prices and debt, has also been under pressure to reduce its debt burden.

Brent crude rose $4.91 a barrel to $63.19, pushing the price of US oil up by 0.4 per cent to $54.31, taking all of the gains made last week. The Brent benchmark fell to $62.90, though, as it fell below the $63 mark. Brent hit $63.02 earlier in the day, down 0.3 per cent.

"The Group's revenue without OPEC CNBC that he call the range for the range of oil prices at about 55-50.

"For the near-term we predict a top in oil prices at about $50 a barrel. This is a reasonable price for the US oil market, given the current level of US production and the fact that the US shale oil sector is not facing any particular challenges. The top in oil prices is likely to occur in the first half of 2017."
The true face of Donald Trump
U.S. President Donald Trump is a racist and a hate preacher. It’s time to stop trivializing the immense damage he is causing.

Planning for Korean reunification

By Lee Jong-Wha

The long-simmering North Korean nuclear crisis has reached a near boiling point. Last month, the Hermit Kingdom launched two intercontinental ballistic missiles at Japan and South Korea, major U.S. cities. The United Nations Security Council responded with unprecedented, universal condemnation and economic sanctions. The regime's newly formed military, the Korean People's Army (KPA), had also called the United States its "only enemy" and declared that the United States would not be its enemy, and that the U.S. would withdraw its military forces in the Korean Peninsula, causing South Korea's GDP to decline by more than one third of its annual export revenue. Since then, North Korea's client, Iran, has purchased nuclear weapons and pursued economic reforms, using ever-more advanced technology to develop a nuclear weapon. The United States has responded with increased military and economic sanctions, including "preventive" warfare.

Practical approach

A tatter and more practical approach may focus on allowing the Kim regime to take advantage of its relatively abundant human and natural resources, without necessarily trying to overthrow the regime. For example, if the United States was willing to allow North Korea to keep its weapons, it could still allow the regime to conduct humanitarian, health, and environmental projects. The regime could be allowed to conduct nuclear weapons research, providing that it is done in a controlled and monitored environment. This approach would allow the United States to maintain its influence in the region, while also providing an incentive for the regime to abandon its nuclear weapons program.

After the United Nations lifted sanctions imposed on Libya in 2009, Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi opted to accept European aid and to disarm his armed forces. In 2011, when the Libyan People's National Congress (Libyen) declared independence, Gaddafi was overthrown and executed. Since then, Libya has been torn by civil war and political instability, with rival factions battling for control. The country is still struggling to establish a stable government and to rebuild its economy. Libya's oil reserves are the second largest in Africa, and the country is rich in natural gas resources. However, the country lacks a functioning government and faces significant challenges in terms of security and governance. The international community has been pushing for a political solution to the conflict, but so far, there has been little progress.

Theoretical approach

Theoretical approaches to the problem of North Korea are often based on the assumption that the regime can be peacefully coaxed into denuclearization. However, the reality is that the regime is not interested in denuclearization, and its leaders are more interested in maintaining power and control over the country. The regime has shown a willingness to use violence and terrorism to achieve its goals, and it has a history of brutal repression.

The real face of Donald Trump

Donald Trump was elected as the President of the United States in 2016. He has been accused of numerous offenses, including murder, fraud, and tax evasion. He has also been accused of sexual assault, including rape.

The White House is supposed to be home to America's moral compass. Instead, there is the president who is clearly the country's chauvinist-in-chief.

diversity and discrimination: Yotam and Pinhas Herzog (Yotam and Pinhas Herzog)
Does Britain have a secret travel ban against Arabs?

By Yvonne Ridley

Britain stands accused of operating a secret travel ban against Arabs after it emerged that a large number of international renowned academicians, religious leaders, musicians, artists and performers of Middle Eastern origin have been denied visas to enter the UK. All were booked to appear or perform in the UK but were routinely denied entry. When asked why they were not received on the grounds that they would not re-enter the UK, visa applicants were directed to the British Embassy in their home country. In the case of the Arab World, the British embassy in Beirut, the first Christian woman to be ordained in the Middle East, who is married to a Muslim. Asked by the Home Office, she was informed that she had been refused because she is a Muslim. The 25-year-old is a dual citizen of Lebanon and the United States. She is a Sunni Muslim and her father is a Christian. Asked why you will leave the UK at the end of your stay? I am not convinced you are genuinely seeking entry to the UK for a purpose that is permitted by the visitor rules and that you will not undertake any prohibited activity.

Abbyadami Akizhine

The president resurrected the “both sides” argument going even further insisting that not all of those present in the neo-fascist demonstrations were white nationalists, that some were white people, referring to the white people after the police had fired tear gas at them. He reiterated the argument that “white nationalists are nothing to be afraid of.”

“Actually, we need to be afraid of all these people,” Thompson was quoted as saying.

“Too often we think about white nationalists as a different group, as a different people. In fact, white nationalists are us, and they know it. They know we are the people we are afraid of. They know we are the people we need to be afraid of.”

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

“Actually, we need to be afraid of all these people,” Thompson was quoted as saying.

“Too often we think about white nationalists as a different group, as a different people. In fact, white nationalists are us, and they know it. They know we are the people we are afraid of. They know we are the people we need to be afraid of.”

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismissed reports that the white nationalists who have claimed that they were both sides of the story, white nationalism and anti-fascism, are the ones responsible for the violence in Charlottesville.

The president has repeatedly dismiss
After Barcelona: Brexit will put Brits at more risk of deadly terror attacks

By Elizabeth Ball

As the United Kingdom proceeds with negotiations to leave the European Union (EU), it must account for mounting security concerns regarding the potential drop-off in shared intelligence with EU member states.

A recent report published by the UK’s House of Lords EU Home Affairs Sub-Committee concluded there would be a “barrier” to security if data transfers between EU nations and the UK are obstructed after Brexit, which would negatively impact the national security and counterterrorism efforts of not only the UK, but EU member states as well.

In recent years, especially after the attacks in Brussels, Paris, Nice, and Berlin, there has been more cooperation within the EU to keep European citizens safe, highlighting the growing need for sharing.

As a result of increasing collaboration with regard to intelligence sharing supports police and other authorities who respond to terrorism. Former UK Metropolitan Police Chief Commissioner Lord Paul Condon has said that losing access to the EU’s intelligence data would hinder the ability of UK police to fight terrorism, drug dealing, smuggling, and crime in general.

According to Condon, unless a post-Brexit UK can establish an intelligence sharing system that mirrors the one currently in place, British citizens will be less safe after their departure from the EU.

Currently, as part of the EU, the UK both contributes to and benefits from the EU’s Intelligence Analysis Center (CECT) in January 2016, Europol’s counterterrorism efforts have led to an increase in the exchange of information among EU member states.

As a result of increasing collaboration with regard to shared security concerns, Europol has noted a significant increase in trust and awareness among law enforcement agencies in EU member states, leading to an increase in new leads for investigation and the identification of new targets.

Sir John King, European commissioner for the security union, noted that after the terror attacks in France, Europol was able to offer 800 intelligence leads, as well as over 1,300 leads on suspicious transactions.

With heightened security concerns after attacks throughout Europe, there is pressure to prevent the exchange of information within the EU. Should the UK forfeit access to such a network, national and counterterrorism security systems would be severely weakened.

Despite this reality, there are those who downplay the effectiveness of intelligence sharing between EU member states, citing the need for control of information on a national level.

Jean-Marie Delany, a former French intelligence official, commented: “It is not in the nature of intelligence agencies to keep the information for themselves. Information is power. Intelligence only has enemies, no friends.”

For more International news visit www.tehrantimes.com

International Daily

AUGUST 22, 2017

IRANIAHOME

Real Estate

SILVANASI

09123103526

Tel: 88689007
Fax: 88705963

Specialise dans la location de villas, appartements, ou bureaux pour une clientele essentiellement étrangère. Fichier tres riche a votre disposition.

Advertisement Dept:
times197@gmail.com

www.tehrantimes.com

Apartment for rent in Elahieh province.
Second floor, single unit in a four story building. 220 square meters, three bedrooms, two and half bath. Fully furnished, large balcony, two allocated parkings. Indoor swimming pool.

Elahi 09181613207
Tea vs coffee - which cuppa should you be drinking?

Coffee contains 300mg of caffeine.

Best for... alertness? Tea

While whole coffee can pep you up, but that feeling may be on illusion, say researchers from the University of Arizona. A study published in Neuropharmacology, reports that frequent coffee consumers may benefit by altering the both anxiety-producing effects and the stimulatory effects of caffeine. Frequent consumers may benefit by altered coffee, but the evidence suggests that this is the reversal of the balancing effects of acute caffeine withdrawal. And given the increased propensity to anxiety and raised blood pressure induced by caffeine consumption, there is no net benefit.

However, Macleannan, who is Herbal Director at Pukka Herbs, quotes Portuguese researchers in the Journal of Nutrition, saturated fat and caffeinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.

Best for... weight loss? Tea (as long as it's green...)

If you're swelled fitness magazine advice tonick an espresso before a fat-burning workout, this might give you pause for thought. Black coffee has been the staple of many a dietary regime, but it may be more harmful than good. An April 2011 study from the University of Guelph revealed not only that a healthy person's blood sugar levels spike after eating a high-fat meal, but that the spike doubles after both a fatty meal and caffèinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease.

In the Journal of Nutrition, saturated fat and caffeine can combine to create a condition called lactic acidosis which can lower your blood sugar levels, as they can other from the bloodstream, they process the glucose to eventually produce "metabolites." As hair follicle stem cells produce a metabolite called lactate, it led us to look for potential drugs that could be used to promote hair growth. In the Rutter lab at University of Utah, they increased lactate production in the mice and this accelerated hair follicle stem cell activation, increasing the hair cycle.

But before this, no one knew that increasing or decreasing the lactate levels would have an effect on hair follicle stem cells. "Although we have some idea of what factors might contribute to hair loss, it was a big surprise to find that this is the reversal of the fatiguing effects of acute caffeine withdrawal. And given the increased propensity to anxiety and raised blood pressure induced by caffeine consumption, there is no net benefit," Macleannan says. However, Macleannan, who is Herbal Director at Pukka Herbs, quotes Portuguese researchers in the Journal of Nutrition, saturated fat and caffeinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.

Best for... weight loss? Tea (as long as it's green...)

If you're swelled fitness magazine advice tonick an espresso before a fat-burning workout, this might give you pause for thought. Black coffee has been the staple of many a dietary regime, but it may be more harmful than good. An April 2011 study from the University of Guelph revealed not only that a healthy person's blood sugar levels spike after eating a high-fat meal, but that the spike doubles after both a fatty meal and caffèinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.

Best for... weight loss? Tea (as long as it's green...)

If you're swelled fitness magazine advice tonick an espresso before a fat-burning workout, this might give you pause for thought. Black coffee has been the staple of many a dietary regime, but it may be more harmful than good. An April 2011 study from the University of Guelph revealed not only that a healthy person's blood sugar levels spike after eating a high-fat meal, but that the spike doubles after both a fatty meal and caffèinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.

Best for... weight loss? Tea (as long as it's green...)

If you're swelled fitness magazine advice tonick an espresso before a fat-burning workout, this might give you pause for thought. Black coffee has been the staple of many a dietary regime, but it may be more harmful than good. An April 2011 study from the University of Guelph revealed not only that a healthy person's blood sugar levels spike after eating a high-fat meal, but that the spike doubles after both a fatty meal and caffèinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.

Best for... weight loss? Tea (as long as it's green...)

If you're swelled fitness magazine advice tonick an espresso before a fat-burning workout, this might give you pause for thought. Black coffee has been the staple of many a dietary regime, but it may be more harmful than good. An April 2011 study from the University of Guelph revealed not only that a healthy person's blood sugar levels spike after eating a high-fat meal, but that the spike doubles after both a fatty meal and caffèinated coffee – jumping to levels similar to those of people at risk of heart disease. The results were published in the July 2007 edition of The Lancet.
Foreign travelers pose for a photo during their visit near Persepolis.

The joint efforts by Iranian and Italian archaeologists in 2014 led to the excavation of Tal-e Ajory mound that bears vestiges of important archeological site adjacent to the legendary Persian settlement, which form the Nanny Town Heritage Route.

The site is also a biodiversity hotspot for the Caribbean Island region by establishing a network of trails, hiding places and contacts with local community – art and architectural heritage.

TEHRAN — Iran will debut its first International conference on Halal food and business in Tehran during December. A 200 News reported on Sunday “Halal Orientation: The New Global Trend” has been addressed as a motto for the event, which is organized by Iran Chamber of Commerce, Industries, Mines and Agriculture in close collaboration with the Cultural Heritage, Tourism and Handicrafts Organization and the private sector.

“During the past couple of years, various countries have put restrictions on tourism and MICE-Tourism plays a crucial role in the development of the economy. The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan”.

Foreign travelers pose for a photo during their visit to Persepolis, south-west Iran.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan. The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.

The Astana tourist cluster has been divided into urban and rural parts, which provide an interesting example of the progress made in the tourism industry in Kazakhstan.
Voyager 1 scientist says NASA needs new interstellar probes

A new study from the Cedars-Sinai Heart Institute reveals that stem cells taken from younger rats provided wider protection with mitochondrial age being injected into their hearts. After a month, the rats ran longer, and performed better overall.

Old hearts may find new life, according to a new study, which shows that stem cells taken from younger hearts can be used to reverse the aging process. This could potentially cause older hearts to act and perform like younger ones.

The study, conducted by the Cedars-Sinai Heart Institute and published by the European Heart Journal, observed the effects of cardiac stem cells on various aspects of the heart, including its function and structure. Prior applications of Cardiopropugan cell therapy were tested. This differentiates the composition of the stem cells: Albert Einstein College of Medicine, in New York, observed the brain was discovered to be a key part of aging in mice.

Cedars-Sinai researchers instead took cells from newborn mice and grafted them into the hearts of older mice, while another group used cells from the whole body. Blood, echocardiographic, histopathologic, and cardiac performance tests were performed on all mice with the older groups tested 1 month later.

Heart functionality benefits indicate the hippocampus-derived cells are important for cardiac function and may have overlap with brain aging. They also performed exercise 20 percent longer, negated the effects of aging, and had improved heart cell survival. The findings are important because it's still unclear if the cells actually extend the lifespan of the rats, rather than aging the hearts of the young in an old body. It's also unknown if CDCs' need to take from younger hearts in order to be effective. Further work is required to determine if the cells could be used to treat older hearts with youthful vigor when they're still healthy.

The study, conducted by the European Heart Journal, set out to observe the benefits of CDCs from the young to the CDCs of older rats with youthful vigor when they're still healthy. The study is the first to test the potential of using young cells to reverse the aging process. This is different from the traditional approach of using cells from the same species.

It's still unclear if the cells actually extend the lifespan of the rats, rather than aging the hearts of the young in an old body. It's also unknown if CDCs' need to take from younger hearts in order to be effective. Further work is required to determine if the cells could be used to treat older hearts with youthful vigor when they're still healthy. The study is the first to test the potential of using young cells to reverse the aging process. This is different from the traditional approach of using cells from the same species.

The study was conducted by the European Heart Journal, set out to observe the benefits of CDCs from the young to the CDCs of older rats with youthful vigor when they're still healthy. The study is the first to test the potential of using young cells to reverse the aging process. This is different from the traditional approach of using cells from the same species.
Iran holds first Women in Science Award

Women as agents of change

While among the most vulnerable, women can also play a key role in controlling the spread of cholera because they are traditionally tasked with preparing food and often involved in hygiene and sanitation work and food distribution.

More ambitious quotas to improve representation in the short term? McNeill said local government should do more to encourage and support women effectively once they have been selected. Without these measures, political parties would be at a marked disadvantage.

Political parties and institutions must introduce more ambitious quotas to improve representation in the short term. McNeill said local government should do more to encourage and support women effectively once they have been selected. Without these measures, political parties would be at a marked disadvantage.

Political institutions and parties must introduce

England councils need 12,000 more women to close gender gap

In the midst of the cholera outbreak in Yemen, where an average of 5,000 people fall sick every day, the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) is coordinating response efforts.

UNFPA has said that the cholera crisis in Yemen is the world's worst humanitarian crisis linked to the ongoing conflict and displacement crisis, the breakdown of health and sanitation systems, and serious food insecurity.

The report states: “Many local government policy makers need to be concerned about the fact that they are not addressing women’s issues at stake.

More often than not, the women who play key roles in local government and community affairs cannot be achieved through these changes, it then says legislation should be introduced requiring elected positions to be filled equally by genders, or with a split of 60% for either.

England councils need 12,000 more women to close gender gap

Malay-Muslim women attacked online simply for being female.

The religion doesn’t encourage the “jaga lari” behaviour. There are hadiths from Prophet Mohammed that all Muslims should be engaged in conducting innovative research projects and writing articles or books on scientific subjects.

Malay Muslim youth have been attacked last March, five times more than religious issue.

The category handling non-scientific women has been named after Maryam Mirzakhani, a prominent Iranian mathematician who died on July 15.

Pregnancy, breastfeeding women among most at risk in Yemen's cholera outbreak

Pregnant, breastfeeding women are especially vulnerable to the cholera outbreak. Moreover, the women who play critical roles in local government and community affairs cannot be achieved through these changes, it then says legislation should be introduced requiring elected positions to be filled equally by genders, or with a split of 60% for either.

Political institutions and parties must introduce

England councils need 12,000 more women to close gender gap

McNeill said local government should do more to encourage and support women effectively once they have been selected. Without these measures, political parties would be at a marked disadvantage.

Political institutions and parties must introduce

England councils need 12,000 more women to close gender gap

McNeill said local government should do more to encourage and support women effectively once they have been selected. Without these measures, political parties would be at a marked disadvantage.

Political institutions and parties must introduce
Qatar crisis: Are the Saudis real puppet-master?

A so-called monitoring group says more than a dozen civilians have lost their lives in a week as the U.S.-led military coalition battled to contain the Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL/ISIS). The latest leak comes after hackers revealed documents and communications involving the U.S., Saudi Arabia, Egypt, and Lebanon. If you only had a few artists, musicians and luvvies from the region to give up, “there would not be enough space on the plane” she asked the audience.
Muguruza thumps Halep in Cincinnati final

Neymar slams Barcelona board: ‘They shouldn’t be in charge of Catalan club’

Farah wins his farewell track race in Birmingham

Man City outcast Nasri in for Eto’o to Eto’o against Liverpool

Ramos asks for more leniency from referees after red card record

Real Madrid defender Sergio Ramos believes English referees are more lenient than their Spanish counterparts and has accused La Liga match officials to take a leaf out of the Premier League book after being sent off in Sunday’s 3-0 win at Deportivo La Coruña.

The captain served a second booking in injury time after following Deportivo’s Borja Valle while challenging for an aerial ball, adding to his second-half foul on Egimen Gazik for an off-the-ball foul.

In ‘some areas we need to look more at English football and let the players play a fairer game in a fairer system better. In English football are more lenient,’ Ramos, who received the 23rd red card of his Real Madrid career, added.

‘I don’t agree with the (second yellow card, it was hard, but I respect the Spanish referees’ authority. I have no intention of hurting him, I just supported myself but you learn from everything’

Explaining the Tim rebuke in which occasion he was sent off, Deportivo’s Zakaria Bakayi player was injured on the floor. Ramos added: ‘We didn’t lose the ball because they didn’t do quicker’

‘They ran after me, Schar headbutted me and all I did was pull him out of the way. It is hard to understand. Ramos is Real’s most sent off player, with former defender Fernando Hierro being sent off on 22 occasions.

Out of Ramos’s 23 red cards, 18 have come in the La Liga, three were shown in the Champions League and two in the King’s Cup. The centre back, however, has never been dismissed in 245 games for Spain.

The former player in eight Liga games over the weekend, compared to two in nine Premier League games.

(Source: Goal)

Ronaldo re-joined City for a pre-season tour of the United States, he has won two Premier League titles and a two-year deal with the Super Lig side where he links up with former team-mates Jeremy Menez and Johan Djourou.

In the event that he left, ‘Quirk added.

—that was also made at other matches across Spain‘

L’Espoir sport journalist Diego de Juan told CNN Sport: ‘It was the stadium crowd... We don’t have fans’

The front of the Barca players’ shirts carries the RFc-Brussels Barcasion inscription, and Barca was inscribed on their shirts rather than the player’s names.

In the bleachers, one fan displayed a placard reading ‘Let’s give Pacquiao one more chance here, there, happy to be in that situation’

The attendance for the game was just over 16,000.

In substitution included all the defenders and to stop vehicles.

Some fans, especially reporters, were reportedly detained at the game and returned their ticket, with their money refunded by the club.

Earlier gathered at Barcelona’s famous Sagrada Familia church to mourn those killed. Spain’s King Felipe and Queen Letizia were among those who prayed for the victims.

At midday, Barca and Bilbao officials delivered a floral tribute at La Rambla, where the van ploughed through the crowds on Thursday.

After the attack, the team’s star player, Lionel Messi, posted on Instagram: ‘Want to send my condolences and all my support to the families and friends of the victims of the terrible attack in our beloved Barcelona, as well as rejecting totally any act of violence.

‘We are not going to give up. We are many more who want to live in peace and respect and tolerance form the base of coexistence’

On Tuesday, Barca goalkeeper Marc-Andre ter Stegen tweeted: ‘We’re playing for the whole city and for peace all over the world’

Barca comfortably beat Betis 2-0 thanks to Alen Tošić’s own goal and a Sergi Roberto strike.

Miguel Nadal

‘I already feel at home here, “he told local media. ‘The team plays in the Brazilian style and this helps my integration.

‘I already feel at home here, “he told local media. ‘The team plays in the Brazilian style and this helps my integration.

‘I mostly came to the club to earn money and improve my career, but in the end I felt that I had to go back to Spain. ‘The contract was only for two years and I wanted to make the most of them’

The 25-year-old left his best until last on Sunday, showing

Now I just want to continue to see a new people, ‘he said.

‘I’m going to a completely new game on the roads with a new mind and I’m excited’

Five more newly-crowned world champions celebrated their London triumphs in style, headed by Gabriele Galantucci, the marathon’s head of security.

‘It’s normally an event that’s very emotional, being sent off in your peerless track career in Britain by winning a marathon man on the roads next year. ‘Now I just want to continue to see a new people, ‘he said.

‘I’m going to a completely new game on the roads with a new mind and I’m excited’

Five more newly-crowned world champions celebrated their London triumphs in style, headed by Gabriele Galantucci, the marathon’s head of security.

‘It’s normally an event that’s very emotional, being sent off in your peerless track career in Britain by winning a marathon man on the roads next year. ‘Now I just want to continue to see a new people, ‘he said.
Iran runners-up at FIBA Asia Cup 2017

Australia are the FIBA Asia Cup 2017 champions following a 79-56 victory over Iran in the final on Sunday evening.

Australia started the game as they meant to go on, jumping out to a 12-2 lead and convincingly controlling the contest the rest of the way. Fiba.com reported.

Brad/Newly had his best game of the tournament to lead Australia, finishing with 38 points, Daniel/Kit/ort on 14, while Mitch Creek had another game in double figures with 10.

Hamed/Nadd/ on/it/ 18 points to lead Iran, and was joined by Reiman/Yahez on/it as the only other player in double figures with 10.

It was all tied up 18-18 early, after their 12-2 opening in the first five minutes, and Iran having no answer. Iran was 19-24 down, Haddadi expanded with a 24-6 run to get fast break opportunities from Iran’s turns and saw success pulling Haddadi away from the basket.

It took two and a half minutes for the lead to balloon to 20 in the third period from which it was relatively plain sailing.

A final surge from Iran saw them get the deficit down to 11 in the final minutes of the third period, but it was as close as they would get with Australia dominating the start of the fourth to seal their fate.

Korea finished in third place at the FIBA Asia Cup 2017, taking a 80-71 win to make it two wins from two against New Zealand in the competition.

Australia are good opportunity for Asia basketball: Mehran Hatami

Iran basketball coach Mehran Hatami believes that a high-level Australian team can help the Asian basketball scene in the future.

The Boomers won the title after beating Iran 79-56 in the FIBA Asia Cup final last Sunday in Lebanon Sunday evening.

Australia and New Zealand made their debuts in the FIBA Asia Cup, with Iran’s participation in the competition.

Iran’s Hamed Haddadi named FIBA Asia Cup MVP

The Iranian national basketball team’s center Hamed Haddadi has been named the Most Valuable Player (MVP) for the fourth time in the FIBA Asia Cup. The 2.18 player had been previously named MVP in 2007, 2017 and 2019.

The center helped Iran finish second at the 2017 FIBA Asia Cup in Bahrain, Lebanon. Haddadi had 18 points in the final match against Australia.

Haddadi is the first Iranian to play in the National Basketball Association (NBA) when he debuted with the Memphis Grizzlies in 2012.

He also continued playing with the Grizzlies until 2013, when he helped to lead the Toronto Raptors and then the Phoenix Suns before returning to Iran and then playing in China soon afterwards.

Ex-Iran table tennis player Vahabzadeh dies

Former Iran national table tennis player Mohammad Vahabzadeh passed away at the age of 73.

He died in Germany Sunday night due to illness.

Vahabzadeh is survived by his son Ayra.

Vahabzadeh represented Iran in three World Table Tennis Championships (1971, 1973, 1977, and 1979). He was a member of Iran’s table tennis team.

The Tehran Times staff offer heartfelt condolences to his bereaved family.

Iran to play Congo in friendly: Report

Iranian media suggest that Iran’s national football team will play a friendly match with DR Congo as part of preparation for the 2018 World Cup in Russia.

The Iranian football team have been scheduled to take on DR Congo in Saint Petersburg on October 10 and it seems the Carlos Queiroz’s team are going to arrange a friendly match with the African team five days earlier.

DR Congo sit above Tunisia, Gum- bie and South Africa in Group A of the 2018 World Cup qualifiers.

Iran have already booked their spot in next year’s World Cup as they made their second appearance in a continental final with their 2012 AFC Champions League run, only to lose to another Korean side – Ulsan Hyundais.

Since that disappointment, Al Ahl have not made it past the quarter-finals. This year, Al Ahl will attempt to correct that record.

After finishing second in Group C behind Al Ahli, Al Ain faced their nemesis from the United Arab Emirates, who were runners-up in the 2015 edition.

African giant Al Ahli are of course far more experienced than Al Ahli. Al Ahl won the Group and qualified for the Primrose Cup, while Al Ahli finished second in the group.

African giant Al Ahli are of course far more experienced than Al Ahli. Al Ahli have never won an Asian title, they were the first Saudi Arabia club to reach the final of the Asian Club Championship, back in 1985.

In the 1st edition, the Japanese-based club lost to Daewoo Royals of Korea Re- public. A similar fate ensued when Al Ahl

AFC Champions League Quarter-final preview: Persepolis vs Al Ahli

The 2017 campaign saw Persepolis to the quarter-finals. Chico Flores in the second leg to take Perspoul to the quarter-finals.

Persepolis have one man to thank in particular for getting this far in the competition and that is Iran striker Mahdi Taremi. Despite not scoring in the previous 24, the 24-year-old had struck six times so far and one in second place in the scoring charts behind Al Ain’s Omar Abdulrahman.

The focus will turn to Taremi once again as the club aim to conquer another ground in Asia. Although Al Ahl have never won an Asian title, they were the first Saudi Arabia club to reach the final of the Asian Club Championship, back in 1985.

In the 1st edition, the Japanese-based club lost to Daewoo Royals of Korea Re- public. A similar fate ensued when Al Ahl

Barcelona insist Messi still committed after Joan Laporta claim

Barcelona maintain that Lionel Messi will sign his contract extension despite former club president Joan Laporta’s suggestion he could leave if current chief Josep Maria Bartomeu is not removed from his position.

Messi’s current deal expires next summer but Barca announced in July that an agreement had been reached for a new four-year deal, running until 2021.

However, the new terms have not yet been signed and reports in Spain suggest the weekend saw the two parties reach agreement to sign off on the three-year deal after working hard to try and resolve their differences. However, the new terms have not yet been signed and reports in Spain suggest the weekend saw the two parties reach agreement.

“After Depor’s Florine Andone was denied early on by Madrid goalkeeper Kaylor Navas, Gareth Bale took advantage of a mistake by home keeper in the 85th minute to tap the into an empty net, and before the half hour mark Casemiro had made it 2-0 by knocking home Marcelo’s cross from close range.

Madrif’s third came just after an hour with Karim Benzema, Isco and Bale combining excellently before Harry Kane scored to make it 3-0 in the 74th minute.

However, the new terms have not yet been signed and reports in Spain suggest the weekend saw the two parties reach agreement.

After Depor’s Florine Andone was denied early on by Madrid goalkeeper Kaylor Navas, Gareth Bale took advantage of a mistake by home keeper in the 85th minute to tap the into an empty net, and before the half hour mark Casemiro had made it 2-0 by knocking home Marcelo’s cross from close range.

Madrif’s third came just after an hour with Karim Benzema, Isco and Bale combining excellently before Harry Kane scored to make it 3-0 in the 74th minute.

However, the new terms have not yet been signed and reports in Spain suggest the weekend saw the two parties reach agreement.

After Depor’s Florine Andone was denied early on by Madrid goalkeeper Kaylor Navas, Gareth Bale took advantage of a mistake by home keeper in the 85th minute to tap the into an empty net, and before the half hour mark Casemiro had made it 2-0 by knocking home Marcelo’s cross from close range.

Madrif’s third came just after an hour with Karim Benzema, Isco and Bale combining excellently before Harry Kane scored to make it 3-0 in the 74th minute.

However, the new terms have not yet been signed and reports in Spain suggest the weekend saw the two parties reach agreement.
Abbas star asks fans to take a chance on a new piano album

Jerry Lewis, king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, dies at 91

Their relationship soured, however, and by the time they made their last team movie together, “Hollywood or Bust,” they reported that they barely spoke. Jim Carrey, an actor whose style owed a heavy debt to Lewis’ acting and performing, told Reuters by telephone that he had seen them “on and off.”

Lewis became closely associated with his annual Labor Day telethon, which he started giving shows to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in 1952 before retiring from the job in 2011. According to The New York Times, the telethon had raised $2.5 billion over some 45 years. The group of late had been planning to make one more show before Lewis announced that he was taking a break from the event. Lewis’ interest in producing and directing movies, as well as his desire for applause from the often-critical remote fans, was a key factor in his decision to end the event, according to his manager, Frank Langella, who told Reuters that Lewis had been planning to make one more show before ending the series.

A poster for “20th Circuit Suspects” from Iran joins APSA race

“20th Circuit Suspects” has been released to the country, the embassy of Indonesia as part of a celebration for the independence day of Indonesia.

Jerry Lewis performed at the embassy of Indonesia as part of a celebration for the independence day of Indonesia.

Lewis died of natural causes at his home in Las Vegas on Sunday, according to the statement released by his record company. He was 91.

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

Jerry Lewis, king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, dies at 91

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Abbas star asks fans to take a chance on a new piano album

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Abbas star asks fans to take a chance on a new piano album

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.

Jerry Lewis attended a special screening of the feature-length documentary “Method to the Madness of Jerry Lewis” at Paramount Studios in Los Angeles, Calif., U.S.A. on December 7, 2011. (Reuters/Phil McCarten/Photo)

Jerry Lewis starred in the storybook parody “Cinderella” and the hit animated film “Cinderella.”

The White House said Lewis had kept people laughing across the country, and his country loved him, “said the statement released by his record company. Lewis was the king of low-brow comedy and charity fundraiser, and he had lived the American Dream — he truly loved his country, and his country loved him.”

The group broke up in 1980 but have maintained an enduring popularity with subsequent generations of fans making it one of the biggest-selling acts of all time.