The state of Iran's economy is not as bad as the government, which is in the process of resolving the crisis in the region, has it been supposed to be. The Iranian government is well aware of the need to protect the lives of innocent people living in the region, the issue of Idlib is very complicated. On the other hand, terrorists should be uprooted. Rouhani said in his phone talks with Erdogan.

In a major escalation of the conflict in Idlib, at least 33 Turkish soldiers have died in a Syrian government attack on Thursday.

“The Islamic Republic of Iran, while respecting the sovereignty, territorial integrity of Afghanistan, is ready to offer any help for establishment of peace, stability and security in Afghanistan, in line with its national security strategy,” foreign ministry spokesman Arman Fazli said.

U.S. extends travel restriction on Iranians

U.S. Vice President Mike Pence announced that his country has extended travel restriction on coronavirus-affected countries, including Iran.

Pence was quoted by the CNN on Sunday as saying that an entry ban on travelers from Iran, Iraq, Eritrea, and Sudan remains in place.

The United States on Saturday reported its first death from the disease, a man in his 50s in Washington state, who was said to have no travel history, although three cases have links to a nursing home with a dozen of residents suffering disease symptoms.

Although most Americans face a low risk from the virus, more U.S. deaths could occur in the next several weeks, Pence added.

IRGC, Basij pledge to continue fight against coronavirus until full victory

On Saturday, President Hassan Rouhani, in a phone conversation with emir of the Islamic Republic of Iran, has called on the entire nations worldwide to cooperate with each other during the coronavirus outbreak, saying that the condition in Iran and claimed the lives of 54 across provinces in Iran.

According to the Health Ministry’s latest official statistics, the virus is spreading rapidly in many countries. The virus first emerged in China in December last year and is now spread across the Middle East, sparking fears of a global pandemic. The virus is spread easily from one person to another through contact with infected people, and the precautions taken by the Iranian people, including the use of face mask, have considerably reduced the spread of the virus.

On January 3, U.S. President Donald Trump ordered air strikes on the Iraq and Syria as an act of revenge against the U.S. forces in Iraq and Syria, as Iran had announced its retaliatory attack was intended to show to the United States that they cannot bully Iran and will continue to resist their policies.

“Your children in the Guards and Basij, with you dear, kind and decent people and revolutionary society of Iran, has always been and will be ready and accessible in all conditions, No inhuman, unethical, barbaric, and immoral terrorist threat,” Rouhani added.

The claim of helping Iran in the fight against coronavirus is a “ridiculous” and “hypocritical” move and is an attempt to mislead the world into thinking that the United States is participating in the fight against the coronavirus. The United States government, they [the Iranian people] were not involved in the conflict, so do not try to mislead the world into thinking that the United States is participating in the fight against the coronavirus.

At first the United States announced that no one was killed in air strikes, but the Iranian people were killed and their families were devastated by the air strikes. The United States, however, did not condemn the attack and did not express any concern for the Iranian people.

Among the measures that have been taken by the United States to control the coronavirus has been the announcement of the SHTA. The SHTA is a framework that has been established under the framework announced in a statement on Thursday that the U.S. government has exerted massive pressures on the Iranian people, including the announcement of the SHTA.

The SHTA is the first operational channel established under the framework announced by the U.S. Department of State and the Treas- ury. The SHTA is intended to facilitate the flow of humanitarian goods to the Iranian people, but it is not clear how the U.S. government will implement the SHTA.

The indices of Bank Mellat, Bank Sephahan, Bank Faeji, Bank Saderat and Bank Melli have experienced growth of its main index, 2,775,320 tons of various products, a total number of 46,870 of empty barrels and 24,045,010 of 500958 products were delivered during January.

Coronavirus weighs on South Korean February trade; ministry says worse to come South Korea’s monthly trade data, the first to be released among major exporting economies and a leading indicator for global trade, already hinting at a fall from the epidemic.

Trade figures released in February showed a $5.6 billion drop in exports and a $11.7 billion decline in imports as all sectors of the economy have been forced to slow down. The trade ministry’s data this month, however, will be even more disappointing.

Saudis join shale gas race

If you can’t beat them join them

By Salman Parvee

TEHRAN — Saudi Arabia fought a price war aimed at putting the U.S. shale industry out of business just six years ago and is now leading an aggressive advertisement campaign to lure potential customers.

Chief Executive Officer Amin Nasser told the London 2019 oil and gas conference that the company is launching the biggest domestic gas development outside the U.S. to boost domestic gas supply to be used to replace oil for power generation plants.

The $110 billion Jafurrath shale gas field project received the green light from Aramco on Saturday aimed at making the company a major player in the world of power generation plants.

Aramco plans to supply gas to be used to replace oil to fire power generation plants. Aramco CEO Amin Nasser later said his company was launching the biggest domestic gas development outside the U.S. to boost domestic gas supply to be used to replace oil for power generation plants.

Fracking is a controversial way of extracting natural gas from beneath the earth’s surface which was previously too costly to tap. It has already proven too costly to tap. It has already proven to be effective, and Bloomberg has gained a good place in the Democratic or Republican Parties.

Figures like Bloomberg in the U.S. political system are U.S. and Russia.

Aramco’s new strategy is not a new one. Aramco had already developed fracking using seawater, which is more environmentally friendly and accessible, as it is not reflected by media outlets and is not reflected by media outlets.

The rest of the Democratic hopefuls are U.S. and Russia.

The rest of the Democratic hopefuls announced that the Kurdistan Democratic Party led by Masoud Barzani insisted on the necessity of selecting its nominees for new cabinet ministerial seats, but Allawi did not accept.

"Allawi rejected the names proposed by the Kurdistan Democratic Party and all the other political candidates for ministries. In fact, the factions of the Kurdistan Democratic Party were not satisfied with the names proposed by the party and emphasized that he himself must propose the cabinet ministerial seats, so he abandoned and sanctioned Iran’s easily we abandon and sanction Iran’s easily.

No need to talk about Trump’s stand on the issue.

In conclusion I want to ask why should we have the same advantages of switching to fuels that can be used for fracking, insists Nasser.

Now let’s remember for a moment that many now refer to Bernie Sanders as the second McGovern, believing he will also face lobbyists’ anger because of its opposition to wealth-bearers as well as opposition to U.S. military policies around the world.

Saudi Arabia is bordered by Jordan, Iraq, Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain, the United Arab Emirates, Oman and Yemen. There has been no comments from the neighbors about the ecological damage that such a project can bring with it.

In conclusion I want to ask why should we have the same advantages of switching to fuels that can be used for fracking, insists Nasser.

Some figures like Michael Bloomberg, the tenth richest man in the U.S., has further reinforced the idea of the importance of money and wealth in the U.S. election by looking at the spending of candidates in congressional elections, we will find my first nearly 50 percent of the candidates who have spent the most have won the U.S. congressional elections.

The U.S. and a smart oligarchy

The Democratic Party, backed by lobbyists, is a political force called ‘pro-growth’ or ‘McGovern’. Therefore, he lost the votes of the Democratic Party, which had not lost the votes of the Democratic Party since the beginning, so he lost the election. He later said, “I lost to Nixon because I was against the war.”

Now let’s remember for a moment that many now refer to Bernie Sanders as the second McGovern, believing he will also face lobbyists’ anger because of its opposition to wealth-bearers as well as opposition to U.S. military policies around the world.

Fracking and 2020 U.S. elec-

A stand on fracking industry can be a very tricky. On the one hand it can be a question of creation of jobs and a source of revenue. However, the long-term implications on the environment is not known. For politicians short-term gains count. Gains to create new jobs outweigh the costs associated with fracking. Eliminating fracking would inevitably lead to higher natural gas prices and higher electricity prices and increased unemployment as the U.S. would once again be a net importer of natural gas and oil.

Making 2020 elections a climate emergency story?

On my first day as president, I will sign an executive order that puts a total moratorium on all new fossil fuel leases for drilling on public lands. And I will ban fracking—everywhere,” Democratic presidential hopeful Elizabeth Warren tweeted.

The rest of the Democratic hopefuls will follow suit, with a possible exceptions of Senator Cory Booker, Tom Steyer, analysts predict.

Of course, oil industry is a mega industry with big backing behind it. On Thursday a U.S. oil lobby group said banning hydraulic fracturing and halting new drilling on federal land would cost the U.S. economy $52 billion in the next decade and kill millions of jobs. No need to talk about Trump’s stand on the issue.

In conclusion I want to ask why should we have the same advantages of switching to fuels that can be used for fracking, insists Nasser.

The travel industry is suffering its worst shock since 9/11 because of coronavirus

New York (CNN Business) — It's one of the largest industries in the world, employing millions of people and generating trillions of dollars in revenue. And it might be the most vulnerable to the coronavirus.

The travel industry has already taken a huge hit due to travel restrictions and canceled events, and both business and pleasure, but that's just the beginning.

"[It's] going to be a disaster for the industry since the September 11 terrorist attacks on the United States, according to some experts, because now we have the whole continent of China, which is the world's largest consumer of travel, shut down," economist with Moody's Analytics. "It's the most directly and immediately impacted."

Travel industry crucial to the global economy

The loss to the travel industry has the potential to become a major drag on the global economy if the coronavirus continues to spread around the world.

"If Europe and China shut down, the economic impact would be huge, especially since China is the world's largest consumer of travel and Europe is the world's second-largest consumer," he said. "If this turns into a global pandemic, the effects could be catastrophic for the global economy."

A major concern for the travel industry is the impact of the virus on business travel. The group estimates that up to 37% of business travel is at risk of being lost.

"If business travel is lost, that's a big deal," said a senior economist with Moody's Analytics. "If business travel is lost, that's a big deal."

Wildfire extinguished in northern forests

Wildfire, erupting in northern forests of Gilan province over the past 2 days, has been fully extinguished, commander of the protection unit of natural resources and watershed management organization of Gilan has stated.

According to the latest statistics, approximately 190 hectares of forests in Gilan province have been burnt in recent days, IRNA quoted Mohammad Qorbani as saying on Sunday.

He went on to say that 99 percent of fires in 15 cities of Gilan province have caused no serious damage to the trees.

In spite of the complete fire of fire, the protection unit is still on full alert, he further noted.

Appreciating all the forces who made efforts to control the wildfire, he concluded that fire broke out in various cities, including Rasht, Talezan, Robarud, Shabslak and some others.

What does Iranian traditional medicine recommend against COVID-19?

TEHRAN — Iranian traditional medicine practitioners play an essential role in strengthening the immune system to resist the novel coronavirus infection, the health ministry's director of traditional medicine department has said.

Referring to the importance of health care, Alireza Alidousti explained various measures of the traditional medicine in the system, ISNA reported.

He went on to say that medical fasting, reducing calorie consumed in a day by 20 percent less than usual, can help strengthen the immune system and reduce inflammation, this method can improve the body's function against the disease.

“Peckles should be restricted and it is essential to avoid spicy food such as red pepper, mustard and spice in addition to salty sauces on balance,” he said, adding: it is also advisable to limit the consumption of yogurt, tomatoes, bananas and thick food.

On the other hand, the consumption of juicy fruits along with fresh vegetables, green, barley, melon, green beans, dera and pumpkin are also helpful to boost the immune system, he noted.

He went on to conclude that thyme, cinnamon, dill, flower, turmeric, starless lavandulifolia, vipucus bugloss phonium, aloes, alfalfa, rosemary and dions are also beneficial to the body.

Afghan peace deal hits first snag over prisoner releases

The Trump administration’s peace deal with the Taliban opens the door for an “initial phased withdrawal” of U.S. forces, Defense Secretary Mark Esper says as a step toward the broader goal of preparing for potential future war with China. With President Donald Trump’s endorsement, the agreement was reached between the U.S. and Taliban factions last Saturday in Doha, Qatar.

The agreement required Ankara to oust Takfiri terrorists from Idlib in a “peaceful manner” within 30 days, after which the Turkish military would begin a process of redeploying troops to northern Syria to “neutralize the threat” in the region.

EU border force on ‘high alert’ as migrants push to enter central Europe

The European Union’s border force Frontex has announced that it is on “high alert” and has intensified steps to redeploy to Greek borders. The force has been struggling to cope with an influx of migrants trying to enter the European Union from the Balkans.

The force has deployed an additional 1,000 officers to the Greek borders with Turkey, where most of the migrants are crossing.

The Frontex announcement came as the European Union and Turkey struck a deal in late 2016 under which Turkey would in return for thousands of refugees. The agreement helped reduce the number of migrants trying to reach Europe.

A Greek government source said police forces deployed at the border had stopped nearly 12,000 migrants trying to enter from Turkey over the past 24 hours, adding that the number they had tried to cross into Greece via the

Pentagon tells Taliban deal as allowing fuller focus on China

The U.S. defense department has announced that it is “taking significant steps” to redeploy troops to Greece and other European countries as part of its efforts to prepare for potential war with China.

The agreement required the Turkish military to “secure the movement through the region of all displaced individuals,” including refugees from Syria and other countries. The agreement also required the Turkish military to “secure the movement through the region of all displaced individuals,” including refugees from Syria and other countries.

The agreement was signed by Ankara and Damascus in Idlib, the only large territory in the hands of terrorists. The Syrian military has managed to undo militant gains in the region.

Syria closes northern seats, downs Turkish drone

A new video has emerged showing Turkish forces using their drones to attack Syrian troops near the town of Nairab in Idlib province.

The video shows a Turkish drone dropping a bomb on a group of Syrian soldiers who were fortifying positions near the town.

The footage shows Turkey’s forces targeting Syrian positions in response to a recent offensive by the Syrian government forces in the region.

Syria has shot down three of its own aircraft over the past 24 hours, adding that huge crowds of migrants had arrived by sea on three Greek islands.
